

12.5 Testing Subsumption and Equivalence Between Expressions

The main reason for generating normal form expressions is to enable testing for equivalence and subsumption between different post coordinated expressions. This section describes how these processes are carried out.

The process of generating normal form for an expression also requires testing of subsumption between subsidiary elements within the expression.

- Using an Expression Repository