JIRA has some useful information as part of the workflow management of SCA. Using confluence we can use that data to produce some useful metrics for reporting. What sorts of things would users like to see?