

7.1 Point of Care Analytics

Point of care analytics encompasses those analytics services that directly benefit individual patients and clinicians, including historical summaries, decision support and point of care reporting. These analytics tasks typically involve the summarization and mapping of patient data, and the linking of terminology with clinical knowledge artefacts.