NLP

This is an abbreviation for natural language processing.

A service in which a computer system converts human-readable text and/or spoken language to formal representations of information.